

From Instituto Paz

November 14, 2024

Hi Liz and friends at St. Jude's,

Once again our thanks for your continued support for Instituto Paz and the people of Yukuyoco. The village is going through some hard times lately. First drought that has made it difficult to count on a harvest, some deaths and cancer battles, and then a very unpredictable, but thankfully, heavy rainy season. The women continue working on projects to make it economically possible to stay in the village and avoid migration. So far they have decided to use half of what you sent to replenish the supply of wool producing Angora rabbits. Thanks so much for sticking with us.
